

The website developed gives the details of blockchain technology. It helps to understand why block chain technology is needed along with its functioning and features. It adds the differences between traditional databases and blockchain.

To create this javascript, HTML and CSS has been used. The display of pictures uses javascript which is a slideshow with a break of 3 seconds between the change.